Hi fellow Board members. At our practice last night, our outgoing President, Jack, asked if I would step up from Vice President to become interim President until a new Pres can be selected. I agreed to do so (with some reluctance because I only make it to banjo once or twice a month). Jack felt that this would be okay in the interim.

I don't know if the Board has to formally approve me as interim President or not; perhaps someone can provide some clarity on this. But 'til then, I will take on the duties of preparing our next Board agenda, where we need to discuss the present and future changes to the Board.

The changes are: we have lost our President and Secretary, and for the interim we have no Vice President if I become interim President., And in the fall, when Karen resumes her academic studies, she indicates she doesn't believe she can continue as Music Director. So there's a lot to talk about, in terms of the offices, the process for filling all the Board slots, etc.

I will put this on our next agenda and will send it around to all of you as a draft before I finalize it.

Another issue -- our next Board meeting is two Sundays from now, May 14 -- Mothers' Day. Is everyone able to make it on Mothers' Day, or should we reschedule our Board meeting?

And finally, just an FYI, I can't make it to banjo next Sunday May 7. I can make it on the 14th.

Interesting times! I look forward to any clarification that anyone can provide on whether the Board would need to confirm me as interim Pres. Thanks, and keep strummin'.
